

HOLLIS & BROOKLINE EDITION

THE FLOWERING EASTER CROSS

For the second year in a row, the front of the Congregational Church of Hollis located at 3 Monument Square has a very special floral decoration for Easter.

The empty cross made of iron and wood is put up on Palm Sunday with no flowers and remains that way until Easter morning.

The congregation and community members are then encouraged to put a silk or fresh flower into the cross starting at sunrise on Easter morning.

The result is an amazing display of color for all to view. A true community effort.

Reader submitted

Courtesy photo

